

"A coach will impact more people in one year than the average person will in an entire lifetime."

Billy Graham

Just like in sports, calling a timeout can help a team refocus on the details that might win a game or contest. The same can be said in life. A Coaches Time Out (CTO) is a weekend event for coaches and their spouse that will enable them to hit pause on life and reinvest relationally, rest meaningfully, and renew spiritually so that they can win where it matters most - AT HOME.

You never know what might hang in the balance so your sponsorship of this event could possibly change the trajectory of a life, a marriage, a team, or even a community.
