A funeral is not a day in a lifetime... but a lifetime in a day.

When family and friends gather to reminisce, share stories, and celebrate a life lived, they are participating in an essential part of the grieving process together. A funeral ceremony should be as unique and distinctive as the loved one to whom you are paying tribute.

Our Life Tributes booklet has been especially designed to guide your family through the planning of a meaningful service as well as the cremation and memorialization process.

“Meaningful funerals are rites of passage that help us move from life before a death to life after a death. They help families and friends support one another, embrace their feelings and embark on the journey to transcendence.”

- Alan D. Wolfelt, Ph.D., Director of the Center for Loss and Life Transition
