"The things that we love tell us who we are." - St. Thomas Aquinas

Happy Mother's Day!

First off, a thank you to all of our mothers out there for the care you show your families. Your love is evidenced in all that you do. There may be many mothers out there, but there's only one of you, and your impact is felt far and wide, beyond the confines of the home.

Upon the passing of my own mother in 2008, what I gleaned most clearly is that she taught me how to love. This may seem obvious to many, but at 28, her impact on my life became impossible to understate as I reflected upon her absence in my life. We need great examples to teach us love: along with faith, love is the best gift we can give anyone.

This day, we also acknowledge those who are struggling to become mothers. By the intercession of the saints, may all obstacles be removed from your path, and never give up hope! Over the years, I have met many struggling couples, and I have seen miracles. Continue to pray, and continue to pursue parenthood in a moral way. In the end, we surrender ourselves fully when we can join Mary in her great Fiat, proclaiming alongside her: "May it be done to me according to thy word."

Speaking of Mary, Mother's Day is also always an awesome opportunity for us to reflect upon the love of the Blessed Virgin, our Mother in Heaven. She loves with a mother's love, and we thank her for her great yes to the will of the Lord, which paved the way for the birth of Christ. In Our Mother, we find a perfect example of a life well-lived.

Congratulations to Our First Communicants!

I had a blast with our First Communicants this past weekend, as I always do. The Eucharist is the source and summit of the Christian life, as St. John Paul called it, and for our children to receive the Lord's Body and Blood for the very first time is always a cause for celebration and joy.

I want to thank especially Cassandra Sientop and Laura Marizza for organizing the kids at Sacred Heart and Assumption respectively. And of course, a special shoutout to Deacon Bill Dunn for all the work he puts in as our Director of Religious Education.

The Blessing of the Bikes!

For unclean spirits, crying out in a loud voice,

For Christ also suffered for sins once,
the righteous for the sake of the unrighteous, that he might lead you to God. (1 Pt 3:18)

is the one who loves me.
And whoever loves me will be loved by my Father,

Live The Liturgy Inspiration of the Week

When we want to see Christ's face, we must look to the Sacraments. "The world will no longer see me," Christ tells his disciples, "but you will see me." This ability to see Jesus is a gift of the Holy Spirit, one made again and again — even today.

Virtues, Explained!

The virtue of courage is intimately linked with that of fortitude — roughly understood as courage in action — and is shown by the person who makes a choice to place his trust in God, not in circumstance.

Blessing for Mother's Day

Dear Lord,
Pour your goodness and grace upon the women of our community today in a special way. For mothers: fill them with joy and blessing.
For those who have lost children: hold them in their sorrow.
For those who have hoped for children: surround them with Your love.
For those who have lost a mother: may they know Your comfort.
For those carrying difficulty on this day: bring them consolation.
Bless all women this day. Thank you for the love they bring to this world, no matter their circumstances or story.
Amen.

Gospel Meditation

Encourage Deeper Understanding of Scripture

In my family, we can hardly speak about orphans without tears. My father was adopted as a baby. He frequently told us stories of how his parents welcomed him not just into their home but into their hearts. It was never merely a relocation or a legal transaction. It was the joy of being chosen, of receiving a family, a name, and a place where he belonged forever. Even in his later years, recalling that gift still moves him to tears of tender gratitude.

That is the kind of tenderness behind Jesus' words in today's Gospel: "I will not leave you orphans; I will come to you." (John 14:18) He is going away, but not abandoning us. Instead, he sends us the Advocate, the Holy Spirit — his own Spirit, shared with the Father — who dwells in us. Through the Spirit, Christ is present in us, and we are present in him. His Spirit gives us a home and a family.

We deepen this knowledge in the sacraments, in prayer, and in the daily life of the Church. The Spirit is the bond of belonging, the power that makes us God's sons and daughters, not spiritual orphans. And this is not a one-time event. There is always a deeper outpouring of the Spirit available to us, a fresh appropriation of the promise that we are never abandoned.

If only we could be as grateful as my dad is for his adoption, realizing that we have been adopted by God Himself. In Christ, we are never left as orphans.

— Father John Muir

Liturgical Life

(PRACTICING) CATHOLIC

Mini Reflection: We are all in need of redemption. When we accept that redemption, however, we also accept a responsibility. Because now, we become what the world sees of Christ.

The Christ You See

"What if you are the only version of Christ someone sees today?" a friend once asked me.

My blood ran cold. Jeez, I thought. That would be...really unfortunate.

The world cannot accept the Holy Spirit, Christ tells us, because the world cannot see and know the Holy Spirit (John 14:17). But the world can see us. The world can know us. In this way, we accomplish the Great Commission: we go forth, and we make disciples of all nations. In all that we are and all that we do, we offer an explanation for our hope (1 Peter 3:15).

We face a unique situation, 2,000 years after the Resurrection, because our mission field is full of people who have already heard about Christ.

And they have zero interest, thanks-and-please-get-off-my-porch.

This Christ they've seen? He puts himself first. He's suspicious of other people. He's not interested in mixing with the wrong crowd. He's been known to lie, to abuse trust, to protect himself.

Here's the problem: they haven't seen Christ at all. They've only seen Christians.

It's easy to blame the obvious culprits: the priest consumed in public scandal, the parish trustee who stole from the coffers. But these are only larger versions of the same failure of which I am guilty each time I shiver at the thought of someone associating my behavior, my words, and my attitude with my Savior.

I am not Christ. I am nowhere close. But I am fortunate enough to be a member of his Body.

We all fail, of course. Every apostle, every saint, every bishop, every priest, every man and woman in the pews: we are all broken. We are all in need of redemption. When we accept that redemption, however, we also accept responsibility. Because now, we become what the world sees of Christ.

Am I ready to be the only version of Christ someone sees today?

— Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

Why do we do that?

Catholic Life Explained

Question:

One of my coworkers said that Catholics believe we kill Christ again when we celebrate the Mass, since it is his sacrifice. I know that is not right, but how do we explain it?

Answer:

We do indeed believe that the Mass is the unbloody sacrifice of Jesus on the cross, and we believe that the sacrifice is made present again on the altar—not to repeat it, but to join ourselves to it. We are joined to the saving work of Christ, not just simply remembering it.

The closest thing we might have in our culture is when a couple saves some wedding cake in the freezer, and on their first anniversary, they may watch their wedding video and eat the cake, all to recapture the moment. The Jews celebrate a Seder meal, not to remember the Passover, but to participate in it through the ritual foods, questions, and readings. The Catechism of the Catholic Church describes the Mass as the "Holy Sacrifice, because it makes present the one sacrifice of Christ" (#1330). To think that we must sacrifice Christ over and over again would negate what he did on Calvary. To celebrate and renew it each day allows us to participate in it. That is the "source and summit" of Christian life (#1324).

Jesus, help me be kind and helpful to my family and friends.

Mission for the Week

Every morning and every night I will thank God for my family and friends.

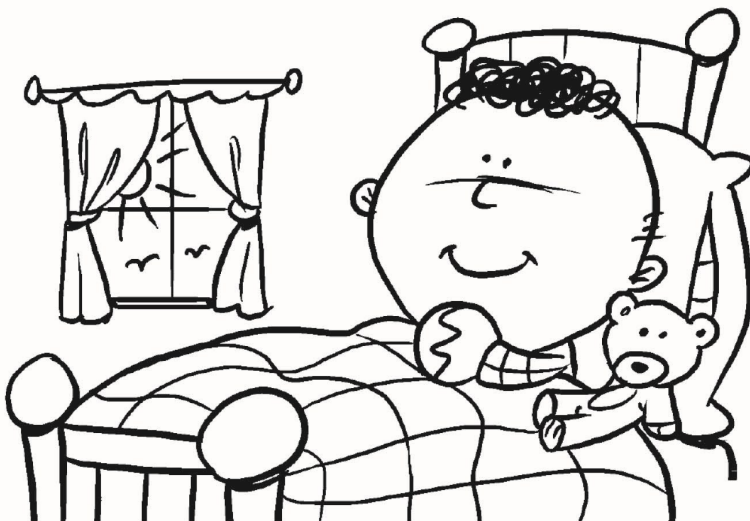

Circle the pictures that show love.

Sharing the Gospel

Jesus gave us two commandments. The first is Love God above all things and the second is Love your neighbor as yourself. Make good choices. Put God first in your life. Say a prayer before getting out of bed every morning. Say a prayer every night. Treat others like you would like to be treated. If you love Jesus and obey his commandments, the Holy Spirit will be sent to help you.
