In Scripture Today

Matthew 4:12-23

Matthew refers to Jesus as the great light and stresses the immediacy of the fishermen's obedience to Jesus' call. Jesus' call is to repentance. Over the centuries, Christian theologians have variously understood what Matthew means by "the kingdom of heaven."

Isaiah 9:1-4

As is sometimes the case, the reading provides the Old Testament passage that is cited in the gospel. Along with Matthew, Christians have seen in Jesus Christ the great light that the prophet anticipates and the salvation God promised. Most of this passage is appointed also for Christmas Eve. On this Sunday, the passage stresses the light of Jesus' ministry.

1 Corinthians 1:10-18

In today's semicontinuous reading of 1 Corinthians, Paul writes that baptism is about the death of Christ and the power of God, not about identification with quarreling groups of Christian believers. The twenty-first-century church, with its myriad denominations, humbly hears Paul addressing our current fractured situation.
