COMMUNITY OUTREACH NEEDS

Angel Tree Gifts are due at church no later than this Friday, Dec. 12. There are still two tags for the Lilburn Co-op children left on the tree - please consider taking one so we cover all requested gifts. Most of the gifts do not need to be wrapped. Wrap only those with the green tree double tags which say "Wrap this gift". Attach all tags to the gifts. Thank you for your generosity in providing for so many children this year! Still have questions? Contact Martha or Mary Kay.

Do you have any large plastic totes (with lids) that you can spare? Two Rainbow House families will be moving to a battered women's shelter in early January and the totes are needed for their belongings. Each family member can take only what they can fit into one or maybe two totes. Contact Mary Kay.

In Scripture Today

Matthew 11:2-11

The gospel of Advent 3 responds to the gospel of Advent 2: last week John the Baptist predicted the coming judgment, and this week Jesus, also citing the prophet Isaiah, speaks of the transformative power of his ministry. Each week we hear more about what the presence of God means for the world, today and at the end of time. That coming begins here, in word and sacrament.

Isaiah 35:1-10

Sometimes in the lectionary, the first reading presents the full citation that is referred to in the gospel reading. This Sunday, the first reading is the oracle from Isaiah that Jesus cites in today's gospel reading. On Sunday, Christians praise the resurrection of Christ as just such a joyous transformation of all things. The Sunday liturgy means to celebrate that transformation.

James 5:7-10

The Old Testament and gospel readings that promise wondrous signs of the presence of the Lord are held next to this New Testament call to patience. In Advent, we join the early church in waiting, perhaps impatiently, for the coming of the Judge and for the end of suffering and evil.
