In Scripture Today

Matthew 28:16-20

Called the Great Commission, the church proclaims this text on Trinity Sunday, affirming that even after the observance of the Ascension, the triune God is always present in the church. The conclusion of the Gospel of Matthew includes the trinitarian words that most Christians use at baptism: "in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit."

Genesis 1:1—2:4a

According to Christian doctrine, God is and has always been triune. The church has seen in the ancient Genesis cosmogony the everlasting Trinity at work in creation: God speaks the Word and breathes the divine Spirit over creation.

2 Corinthians 13:11-13

Many Christians over the centuries use this passage from 2 Corinthians as an opening invocation or a closing benediction. Especially beloved is Paul's description of the attributes of the triune God as grace, love, and communion.
