

This exercise is designed to help you pause, reflect, and be honest with yourself. Stewardship isn't just about money — it's about how you manage every area of your life that God has entrusted to you: spiritual, physical, intellectual, relational, vocational, economical, and recreational.

Take time to sit with the Lord and ask, "Am I being faithful here?"

Write out each area one by one. Under each, complete the sentence:

"I have been faithful in my ____ by..."

Be truthful. If there's an area you've neglected, write it down — not to shame yourself, but to bring awareness. Awareness creates opportunity for growth.

When you finish, pray over what you wrote. Thank God for where you've been faithful, and ask Him for strength and wisdom to steward the areas you've fallen short.

This is where alignment begins — when honesty meets accountability, and stewardship becomes worship.

1. SPIRITUAL

"You have been faithful in your work by seeking God daily through prayer, reading His Word, and walking in obedience to His will."

2. INTELLECTUAL

"You have been faithful in your work by renewing your mind with truth, pursuing wisdom, and allowing the Word of God to shape your thoughts and decisions."

3. PHYSICAL

"You have been faithful in your work by honoring God through discipline, caring for your body, and using your strength to serve others."

4. RECREATIONAL

"You have been faithful in your work by resting in God's presence, finding joy in His creation, and allowing Sabbath rhythms to refresh your spirit."

5. RELATIONAL

"You have been faithful in your work by loving others well, forgiving freely, and building relationships that reflect the heart of Christ."

6. VOCATIONAL

"You have been faithful in your work by serving diligently, leading with integrity, and viewing your work as worship unto the Lord."

7. ECONOMICAL

"You have been faithful in your work by stewarding your finances wisely, giving generously, and trusting God as your ultimate provider."
