The annual Memorial Day ceremony in Dover, honoring those who have died serving our country, was held Monday, May 27, at Fort Donelson National Cemetery in Dover. The annual memorial service, co-sponsored by the National Park Service and the Stewart Co. Veterans Affairs Office, with participation by Dover Post 72 of the American Legion, other veteran organizations, and local civic and scout groups was a true show of patriotism and honor to those who sacrificed so much. Guest speaker for this year's ceremony was Dover resident Ronald L. Welch. In 1945, at the age of 15, Welch joined the US Army Air Corps. He was soon sent to gunnery school in Spokane, Washington, where he was trained as a tail gunner on a B-29.

Indian Mound woman, Charlene Thompson set up a display of her family members who served for the opening ceremony. She had a display of her great grandfather, grandfather and father’s many military decorations and information about their service to our country. Her great grandfather, Major Harry Packard served in the Philippines during WWII and survived the Bataan Death March but was killed by friendly fire on a POW ship. Her grandfather, Brigadier General Edmund Thompson, served in Vietnam and the office he had in the Pentagon was hit in the 9/11 attacks. Her father, Sergeant First Class Matthew Thompson served in the Cold War. Thompson said, “Memorial Day was not created for sales or BBQs, or trips to the beach. It was created as a special day to remember those we’ve lost who gave us the freedom to do those things. I’m happy most Americans won’t ever know what it’s like to get that knock or phone call. I wouldn’t want any family to know that feeling. I wish everyone could understand what military families, especially Blue and Gold star families, feel around this time of year when we see how much Americans forget that today is about remembering.”

SC 2019 Memorial Day Celebration

Many groups came together Monday morning to Honor Fallen Veterans. The Boy Scouts, who have covered the town in American Flags were there and the Ft. Campbell Color Guard and Rifle Corps as well as many others who made the day possible. As usual, it was a touching and patriotic ceremony. Guest of Honor Welch recognized fellow WWII Veteran in attendance, George Williams. He spoke of how the Germans in 1944 were trying to build a bomb and how the US got to work on building an A-Bomb in East TN. He said, “I served in Guam. The Marines had taken Iwo Jima and an emergency airfield had been built there for the planes that would carry the bomb.” Welch then mentioned what many people might not know. He said, “Have you ever heard of WASP? It stands for Women Air Service Pilots. Women that flew airplanes from the manufacturer to wherever they were needed. Men were in combat but they proved that women could fly as good as the men. We could have never won the war without them.” After Welch spoke, Master of Ceremony Don Bailey, Commander of American Legion Dover Post 72 and Stewart Co. VSO Kathy Freed read the names on the Honor Roll Salute to Veterans from Stewart Co. who died in 2018 or 2019, which was 40 names, 19 who died this year so far. We need to honor our Veterans who gave so much serving this country. God Bless America and our soldiers!
