

Board of Directors

Chairperson

Mia Monger

Mia, elected in 2015, has lived in York since 2006 and is an active community member and mother of three children. Mia is currently on leave from her profession as a Social Worker, focusing on running a broad acre farm with her husband Peter. Mia brings skills in the areas of organisational management, business finance, and community collaboration.

Deputy Chairperson

Guy Lehmann

Guy, who has served on the Board since 2014, resides in York with his wife Wendy. Guy is a Partner at Muntz & Partners Chartered Accountants in Perth who services the York and Toodyay Districts. Guy brings a wealth of business and financial experience to the Board to assist the Co-op's development into the future.

Director

Joseph Dwyer

Joseph (Joe) was elected to the Board in 2021 and has a farm in Talbot with his wife Natasha. He has worked in the resources, engineering and building industries in management roles with skills including business operations and governance, and strategic planning and execution. Joe has a strong interest in driving tourism in the Avon district and assisting the Co-op to grow with the community.

Director

Peter Carden

Peter was elected to the Board in 2021 and has resided part time in York for 11 years prior to moving full time in 2020. With 45 years' experience in industries including government, manufacturing and not for profit organisations, Peter brings to the Board skills in financial management. Peter would like to see the Co-op continue its rich history while evolving to the community's needs, and supporting that community through employment opportunities and community involvement.

Director

Natasha Connor

Natasha is the Board's newest member being elected in 2023. Natasha is originally from the country but after spending some time in Perth, recently moved to York with her husband Anthony and three children. She has extensive experience in retail design management and brings to the Board skills in project co-ordination, organisational management, and collaboration. Natasha understands the passion required to make a business a success and plans to support the Co-op in this endeavour.

The Co-op is seeking expressions of interest for vacancies on the Board of Directors. Interested applicants should contact Mia Monger on 0410 421 691 for an application package or if you require further information.
