

- After players have repaired ASE, they can find and play back holograms. These holograms are scenes acted out by holographic images of characters, so they're audiovisual, not just audio. The scene below is the first players come across after repairing ASE. It shows Isaac recording a farewell video message to his daughter, Claire (whom players will remember from level 1).

Localized VO #78: Council Scene 02

Event name: S11a12_Moonhub_Hologram04_IsaacSolo

Characters: Isaac

Time Constraint: Sound sync

Isaac: Claire... This is Isaac. Hi. I'm not sure if this message will ever reach you. I...I don't think it will, but I'm trying anyway. We haven't spoken since the argument about Kathy. I want you to know that she's safe and well. This message will be the last you'll ever get from me, or from anyone else up here.

It's probably something you'll never understand. Hell, I barely do. If someone ever finds out what happened here, know that I did it for her. For your sister, to give her a chance. [Whimpers] But you'll do great. You'll do great things. Take care, and... I love you. I wish I said that more often, back when you still called me dad. Goodbye Claire.

- In another hologram, players witness a recording of the three Lunar Council members meeting, disagreeing over the morality of their deeds as they look over a crowd of lunar colonists carrying out their orders.

Localized VO #79: Council Scene 03

Event name: S11a13_Moonhub_Hologram05_Council

Characters: Isaac, McArthur, Rosa

Time Constraint: Sound sync

McArthur: Hold up... Do you see the people down there? They will be the start of a new chapter. Together, we will be humanity's future.

Rosa: At what cost, William?

McArthur: We're saving the species, so we can start again. If this is what it takes for humanity to survive, I'll gladly take responsibility.

[Johanson approaches]

McArthur: There you are, Johanson! Without your help, this wouldn't have been possible.

Rosa: Isaac? This was not the agreement. You know that. We need to get the MPT back online.

Isaac: Be realistic, Rosa! Even if we ever managed to provide Earth with all the power it needs, what do we truly gain? More time to see oceans and deserts taking our homes? William, I've done my part. Let's just go. I'm done with this mess.

McArthur: You heard the man. Let's go. Outward begins!

- Back inside Copernicus Moonhub after the two minor MPT towers have been aligned, players can discover more holograms. The one below is about Lunar Council Member McArthur delivering a speech in which he, for the first time in the game, explains what's going on: they're going to abandon the lunar colony and leave Earth behind in order to find a place for humanity to start over again.

Localized VO #81: Council Scene 03

Event name: S11a8_Moonhub_McArthurSpeech

Characters: McArthur

Time Constraint: Sound sync

McArthur: Today..! [McArthur allows the word to echo.]

Today we find ourselves at a crossroads. The catastrophic events that have unfolded at the Tombaugh facility have opened our eyes to a truth that cannot be denied. We have lost friends. Colleagues. Our fellow colonists gave their lives for a hopeless cause, for a dying planet that we could never sustain.

We used to call it home. Our pale blue dot. But the Earth we know today is a withered husk, a shadow of its former self. The MPT chained us to a barren rock...

...But no more. All of you gathered here are survivors. You are here because you are mankind's strongest... The smartest. The brightest. Together, we will dare to leap and risk greatness, start a new age of discovery, like our ancestors that fateful moment they first set out to explore new worlds.

We can turn back and confine ourselves to a dying planet, or we can look outward. Now is the time to act. Make your decision, and make it now! A new beginning dawns for humanity, and it dawns today.
