David T. Estle is an estate planning, probate and trust administration, and elder law attorney at Henningson & Snoxell, Ltd., located in Maple Grove, Minnesota. David advises and counsels clients at all stages of their lives about how best to prepare their estate and legacy for the future. David also represents clients with elder law issues, focusing on the costs and considerations of long-term care and elder health, and representing parties to guardianships or conservatorships.

David takes personal and professional pride in securing clients' futures and finances with well-crafted estate planning work that is tailored uniquely to the client. David has experience in the planning that it takes for all different types of estates, from vast to modest, from couples to single persons. Each and every one of David's clients deserves the security of a customized estate plan. Although he practices with an exclusive estate planning and administration and elder law focus, David also has experience in other areas of the law from his career, so he can bring that breadth of legal knowledge when counseling clients.

David received his B.A. in Classics from St. Olaf College and his J.D. from the University of Arizona James E. Rogers College of Law in Tucson, Arizona. He is admitted to practice in the state courts of Minnesota and is a member of the Minnesota State Bar Association. Before joining the team at Henningson & Snoxell, David practiced law at a general practice law firm in Greater Minnesota and curated a County-wide law library. David is excited to be a part of a firm that can take care of a wide variety of client needs—from individual estate planning to expansive business advice. He is committed to creating trusted relationships with clients and looks forward to helping clients throughout the different stages of their lives.

David T. Estle resides in Southern Minnesota, where he spends time with his spouse completing puzzles together and competing against her in board games. He loves taking hikes or paddling along Minnesota's rivers and lakes.
