

PRELIMINARY ENGINEERING

BUILDING BETTER INFRASTRUCTURE STARTS HERE

When planning a new infrastructure project, it's common to have more questions than answers. That's where HLR comes in. We provide complete preliminary engineering services to turn your vision into a practical, buildable solution.

Preliminary engineering is more than just concept plans — it's the foundation for a successful project. Our team carefully considers every aspect of infrastructure planning, while keeping the community informed and involved at every stage.

Expertise You Can Trust

We work on a wide range of new and existing roadway projects, including:

- + Intersection studies and improvements
- + Two- to four-lane widening projects
- + Pedestrian and multimodal enhancements
- + New roadways on new alignments

Our designs are developed with the future in mind — ensuring a smooth transition from preliminary plans to final engineering without costly or time-consuming revisions.

Guiding Clients Through the Early Stages

With extensive experience supporting both state and local agencies, we know how to navigate the early phases of infrastructure development. Our team:

- + Identifies potential permitting, land acquisition, and utility conflict issues early
- + Leverages strong relationships with stakeholders and agencies
- + Provides insight into funding sources, grant writing, and financial assistance programs to help move projects forward

Your Vision. Our Expertise. A Strong Foundation for Success.
