THE EMPTY BACKPACK

You said you'd pick her up.

I said I couldn't.

Everyone wants to know who's at fault.

You're both missing something.

MY FAMILY Question:
What does your family
do together?
Answer:
I don't know anymore.

That's the part worth fixing.

We've been fighting
each other...
and losing her.

She wrote that?

A week later

Ready to go with Dad?

Yep!

See you Friday.

I've got her.

Divorce changes the family.

...but it doesn't have to change how you parent.

Good co-parenting means showing up,
communicating, and putting the child first.
