

Wedding Price List 2026

Please note that prices are based on "what's best at the time/growing at the time" and does not include speciality flowers such as roses, peonies and some dahlias.

Once a date and colour scheme is decided, along with my sowing and planting plan (and weather) I should be able to give some idea of what will be available in advance with an update nearer the time. If enough notice is given, I can grow to a colour scheme within reason.

I always try and use my own flowers but will also purchase from other local growers and British grown flower wholesalers. Arrangements are florist foam free.
