

SJTA READI Project Mgr.

Nick Marchese, Speaker at Conservation Rally

Wednesday, April 10, 2019

Nick Marchese, project manager for the SJTA's Roadway Environmental Advancement Initiative (READI), will present/speak at the 2019 NJ Land Conservation Rally on Creating Pollinator Habitat along New Jersey Roadways on Friday morning, April 12 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in New Brunswick, NJ.

Marchese will join Brittany Dobrzynski, Stewardship Project Coordinator, New Jersey Audubon and Kelly Gill, Pollinator Conservation Specialist, Xerces Society, to speak on the topic of creating and increasing Pollinator Habitat along New Jersey Roadways. The Conservation Rally is a day-long event that includes 27 training workshops and will feature New Jersey First Lady Tammy Snyder Murphy as keynote speaker.

Editor's Note: Marchese is a resident of Gloucester City and a former city councilman.

gloucestercitynews.net | April 10, 2019

50 Shares

Tweet

Share

Posted by CNBNewsnet on Wednesday, April 10, 2019 at 07:59 PM in Announcements/Classifieds, Camden County, CNB BUSINESS NEWS, Gloucester City NEWS, New Jersey, NORTH JERSEY, South Jersey | Permalink | Comments (0)