“The Day Is Coming”

Sr. Dianne Bergant, CSA

Who does not get excited when they know that the day is coming? Which day? A wedding day, the birth of a child, the last day of school, the first day of retirement. We all look forward to special days.

Ancient Israel looked forward to the day of the Lord—that day when everything would be set right. Enemies would be scattered; the sick would be healed; the poor would know comfort; and all people would experience peace. Even though Israel had suffered terribly, God had made promises to their ancestors, and God always keeps promises. Initially, the people expected that day to be one of punishment and retribution for their enemies while they would enjoy vindication and blessing. Today’s first reading asserts that Israel will enjoy no preference. If they sin, they also will face the righteous anger of God.

In the gospel passage, Jesus describes the terrifying events that will precede the destruction of the temple. This was probably less a prophecy of a future event than it was a warning of the suffering they might have to endure as his followers. Such suffering would pave the way for the fearful day of the Lord. If they persevered, such affliction would be purifying for them rather than punishing. Though the reading does not include mention of the day of the Lord, it would have been in the minds of those who heard Jesus’ words. Many would believe that God’s ancient promises were about to be fulfilled.

God had made promises to Israel’s ancestors, and God always keeps promises.

“Se acerca el día”

Por Hna. Dianne Bergant, CSA

¿Quién no se emociona al saber que se acerca ese día? ¿Qué día? El día de una boda, el nacimiento de un hijo, el último día de clases, el primer día de la jubilación. Todos esperamos con ilusión los días especiales.

El antiguo Israel esperaba con ansias el día del Señor: ese día en que todo se restauraría. Los enemigos serían dispersados; los enfermos sanarían; los pobres encontrarían consuelo; y todos experimentarían paz. Aunque Israel había sufrido terriblemente, Dios había hecho promesas a sus antepasados, y Dios siempre cumple sus promesas. Inicialmente, el pueblo esperaba que ese día fuera de castigo y retribución para sus enemigos, mientras que ellos disfrutarían de vindicación y bendición. La primera lectura de hoy afirma que Israel no recibirá ningún trato preferencial. Si pecan, también se enfrentarán a la justa ira de Dios.

En el pasaje del Evangelio, Jesús describe los terribles acontecimientos que precederán a la destrucción del templo. Probablemente, esto fue menos una profecía de un evento futuro que una advertencia del sufrimiento que podrían tener que soportar como sus seguidores. Tal sufrimiento prepararía el camino para el temible día del Señor. Si perseveraban, tal aflicción sería purificadora en lugar de un castigo. Aunque la lectura no menciona el día del Señor, este habría estado presente en la mente de quienes escucharon las palabras de Jesús. Muchos creerían que las antiguas promesas de Dios estaban a punto de cumplirse.

Dios había hecho promesas a los antepasados de Israel, y Dios siempre cumple sus promesas.
