Faith on Purpose

Have you ever noticed how easy it is to be reactive in life?

We react to emails.

We react to traffic.

We react to that one comment someone made three days ago that we definitely didn't overthink at all.

Faith can drift that way too.

In Acts 13:22, God describes David with one of the most remarkable summaries in Scripture: "I have found David... a man after My own heart." What's fascinating is that this description isn't given because David was perfect (he definitely wasn't), but because David was intentional. He didn't just stumble into faith—he pursued God on purpose.

David didn't wait for life to slow down before seeking the Lord. He didn't say, "Once things settle down, I'll get serious about God." (Because let's be honest—things never really settle down.) Whether he was tending sheep, hiding in caves, or leading a nation, David made a habit of turning toward God first. His faith was proactive, not accidental.

Being "after God's heart" doesn't mean you never mess up. It means when you do, you don't run from God—you run to Him. David planned space for prayer, worship, repentance, and trust long before crisis moments arrived. That preparation shaped how he responded when pressure hit.

Here's the truth: reactive faith waits until life gets hard. Proactive faith builds roots before the storm.

This doesn't require dramatic gestures or spiritual heroics. It looks more like daily, quiet choices:

- Choosing prayer instead of panic
- Choosing obedience instead of convenience
- Choosing trust instead of control

It's opening Scripture before scrolling social media. It's asking, "God, what are You doing in me?" instead of only asking, "God, can You fix this?" It's feeding the right things in our hearts so that when life squeezes us, faith comes out.

At Tabernacle, our prayer is that we wouldn't just be people who attend church, but people who actively pursue God's heart together—in ordinary days, not just emergency ones. Because when faith is intentional, it becomes transformational.

So this week, don't wait to react. Take one small step toward God on purpose. David didn't become a man after God's heart by accident—and neither do we.

And the good news? God is still looking for hearts like that today

~ Pastor Matt

The Prayer Quilt Ministry at Tabernacle is an important ministry in the life of the church. Through the quilts, we share the prayers of our congregation and the love and comfort of Christ. If you know of someone who would benefit from a tangible way to feel the presence of God through the prayers of the church, let us know. You can contact the church office or Paula Ginn at pginn11554@aol.com, or 336-908-5019. Thank you!

New Small Group Opportunity!

Starting Sunday, February 1st at 10am in the parlor (near the office in the education building). If you've been feeling spiritually weary, distracted, or like you're fighting battles you can't quite name, this is for you. The Armor of God by Priscilla Shirer is an invitation to understand the spiritual resistance we face—and to learn how to stand firm, not in our own strength, but in God's. This isn't about fear or perfection. It's about awareness, confidence, and learning how to live equipped instead of exposed. This study is for the woman who loves God but feels stretched. For the one who's tired of reacting and ready to stand. For the one who wants truth, community, and practical faith that reaches into everyday life. You don't need to have it all together. You don't need to be a Bible expert. You just need a willing heart. Come as you are. Bring your questions, your honesty, your hope. Study books can be purchased here: <https://a.co/d/5eqz5Pr>. Let's learn how to put on the armor—not just know about it. Hope you will make plans to join us! Contact Tami Fields (336-558-1418) or Rebecca Stewart (336-908-5220) with questions.

Dear Church Family,

The family of Kay Kiger wishes to extend our deepest thanks for the caring and kindness shown to us during our recent loss. Whether you sent a card, offered a prayer, provided a meal, or gave a donation, please know that your generosity touched our hearts deeply.

Dear Tabernacle Family,
Thank you SO much
for the love and comfort
you recently expressed to me. It means so much in this season of my life.
The gift basket and visit
are very much appreciated.
Love,
Sherry
